Administrative history

Eastern Canada Towing Company Limited was formed in 1973 out of two previous companies: Foundation Maritime (incorporated in 1933) and MIL Tug & Salvage Ltd (incorporated in 1968). Foundation Maritime was a subsidiary of the Foundation Company of Canada, which began early in the 20th century as a construction company, but in 1933 branched out into maritime interests with Foundation Maritime. The latter operated primarily out of Halifax, building up a large fleet of tugs and other vessels with which it rescued countless vessels in distress off the Western North Atlantic Coast and river and gulf of St. Lawrence. Foundation Maritime also played a part in the Second World War effort by building many of the cargo vessels which were used by Canada to transport goods to the United Kingdom. By 1968 the company had sold off its shipping interests to focus exclusively on construction, and MIL Tug & Salvage Ltd. of Halifax purchased many of its assets. In 1971 MIL Tug & Salvage was taken over by Point Tupper Towing Company of Halifax; in 1973 the latter was renamed Eastern Canada Towing Ltd. (ECTUG). From a centrally-located base on the Halifax waterfront (the old Foundation Maritime wharf) ECTUG provided a tug service on a round-the-clock basis, with a large fleet of modern tugs. Tugs were assigned to coastal and deep sea towage in Eastern Canada, as well as barging liquid asphalt and bunker oil during the season on the Great Lakes, in the St. Lawrence River and Seaway. The company continues in business today: its tugs are on permanent station at Halifax, Port Hawkesbury, Sept-Iles and Baie Comeau. In 1989 ECTUG became a wholly-owned subsidiary of Cory Towage. Although no longer Canadian-owned, it is now part of SvitzerWijsmuller, a member of the A.P. Moller – Maersk Group of companies.

Scope and Content

Consists of records created and/or accumulated by the Eastern Canada Towing Company and its predecessors, Foundation Maritime and MIL Tug & Salvage Limited. The bulk of the records concern the Company when it was Foundation Maritime, 1930-1968, and MIL Salvage and Towing, 1968-1973. There are four series: (1) yearly financial statements of Foundation Maritime, 1933-1968; (2) legal documents, 1934-1972; (3) general correspondence, 1939-1989; and salvage contracts files, 1918-1974, 1979. The legal documents have to do with the Companies' tug boats, containing bills of sale, agreements, inspection reports and certificates, registrations, radio licenses and related material. The general correspondence files are arranged alphabetically by subject, and include correspondence of both the company president and the operations manager. The salvage contracts series documents the salvage projects undertaken by the company from 1930-1974 and 1979 (excepting the years 1957-1958, whose files are missing). Arranged in numerical and chronological order, there are several instances of missing numbers due to mis-numbering on the part of company staff. There is a chronological card index file to the salvage projects, 1918-1958, which often has details about ships and vessels that are not in the files themselves. The files include correspondence, radio dispatches and radiograms from ships, salvage reports, contracts and agreements, photographs and snapshots of wrecks (often with their negatives), news clippings, nautical charts and ships' plans, rough notes, daily logs of the tug captain on salvage operations, cost estimates and invoices, and court documents. There are also six film reels created by Foundation Maritime to display its tug services and salvage operations, ca. 1958-1960, apparently for news and promotional purposes.
