PADP Characteristics, Terms and Conditions:

- PADP is an application driven investment program, it is not an entitlement program.
- PADP funds are for projects only, they are not for subsidization of the operational costs of the CNSA or institutional members.
- Total of $50,000 in PADP funds anticipated for approved projects beginning in 2024/25.
- Fiscal year 2024/25 begins on 1 April 2024 and ends on 31 March 2025.
- Maximum of $15,000 in PADP funding per approved project.
- Maximum of $15,000 in PADP funding awarded to any one institution per funding year.
- PADP funds cannot be used for costs that would have been incurred had the project not been approved/undertaken.
- No more than 2 project applications can be submitted by an eligible applicant per year, and no more than $15,000 in PADP funds can be requested for both projects.
- PADP is a cost shared program based on not more than 75% of the total project cost in PADP funds to a maximum of $15,000, and no less than 25% from the applicant and its partners.
- Applicants which have not complied with prior reporting or other requirements of the PADP program are not eligible for PADP funding until all such requirements have been satisfied.
- Any substantive change in the allocation of PADP funds within an approved project (e.g. from one expense category to another) is only permissible if requested and justified in writing by the applicant and approved in writing by the NS Archives. To qualify as a substantive, change the reallocation must involve 10% or more of the total PADP funds provided.
- Contribution from the applicant may be a mix of cash/direct dollars and in kind or equivalent support such as paid staff and/or volunteer time spent on the project.
- The minimum contribution of 25% of the total project cost from the applicant can include cash or equivalent in kind contributions from project partners.

- For the purposes of the PADP a partner(s) can contribute financial assistance, in kind support, goods, services or archival records to a project.
- The applicant's sponsoring organization or parent body (e.g. provincial or municipal government, university, non-profit organization) or part of it does not qualify as a project partner.

V. PADP Characteristics, Terms and Conditions: cont'd

- Any contribution to a project made by the applicant's sponsoring organization or parent body or part of it should be credited to the applicant.
- Any time spent on a project by existing staff or volunteers of the applicant or partner(s) should be entered as in kind equivalent support, and not as a direct cash contribution.
- It is not mandatory for applicants, particularly those that rely exclusively on volunteers, to contribute any cash or direct dollars as part of the 25% minimum contribution to the total project cost. However, it should be noted that the PADP Adjudication Committee may award up to 5 points in scoring an application based on the applicant's cash contribution as a percentage of the total project cost.
- Normally, applicant cash or in kind contributions to a 2024/25 project should be made in 2024/25, but contributions made during the previous fiscal year (i.e. 2023/24 which runs from 1 April 2023 to 31 March 2024) can also be included provided they pertain to and support successful completion of the 2024/25 project.
- Cash and/or in kind contributions made to a 2024/25 project by a partner(s) should occur in 2024/25, but such contributions that occur in the previous fiscal year (i.e. 2023/24) are eligible provided they pertain to and support successful completion of the 2024/25 project.
- Applicants are encouraged to partner on projects with other CNSA institutional members and/or other eligible partners if possible or feasible. It should be noted that the PADP Adjudication Committee may award up to 5 points in scoring an application depending on the number of project partners contributing cash and/or in kind support to the project and/or archival records from their holdings for inclusion in the project.
- One of the 4 PADP Objectives must be identified as the primary objective under which the project application is being submitted.
- If the project contributes to advancing or accomplishing any other PADP Objective(s) in addition to the primary objective under which it is being submitted, the additional objective(s) should also be identified on the application.

VI. Eligible Projects By Objectives:

- Only projects which contribute to advancing or achieving at least one of the 4 PADP Objectives are eligible for funding. As many proposed projects will intersect with more than one of the stated objectives, applicants are encouraged to provide as much detail as possible regarding how their proposed project will contribute to the overall objectives of the PADP. Applicants are advised to review and address the relevant factors/questions that appear in the Scoring Guide for Adjudication under their selected Objective in describing their project, as these factors/questions are taken into consideration in awarding points to a project.

Projects, or elements of projects, eligible under the Objectives, could include applications from institutional members to enable their staff to take advantage of specific post appointment professional development and training opportunities to improve their knowledge, skills and abilities. The CNSA could apply to enable it to sponsor, offer and subsidize professional development and training opportunities to improve the overall level of professionalism and expertise in Nova Scotia's archival community. The CNSA could also submit project applications to sponsor and subsidize workshops, seminars, roundtables or symposia on the introduction and adoption of specific standards and best practices in Nova Scotia's archives.

Objective 1 projects should focus on the creation/preparation and entry of RAD compliant fonds, series and sub-series descriptive records in MemoryNS or other online descriptive database. Redescribing or converting existing descriptive records that do not conform to RAD into RAD compliant fonds, series and sub-series descriptions and entering them in MemoryNS or other online descriptive database also qualify as an Objective 1 project.

The former NADP Time Guidelines for Arrangement and Description Projects under the National Archival Development Program, should be consulted in developing PADP projects under this Objective. These Time Guidelines can be accessed at <https://archives.novascotia.ca/padp/>

Entry of file or item level descriptions or lists with some RAD elements (e.g. title and dates) in MemoryNS or other online descriptive database also qualifies as an Objective 1 project, provided they are linked to a higher-level description in MemoryNS.

Linking existing electronic descriptive lists of files or items in a fonds to the relevant descriptive record in MemoryNS or other online descriptive database would qualify as an Objective 1 project, as would scanning hard copy typescript descriptive lists of files or items that do not exist electronically and then linking them to the appropriate descriptive record in MemoryNS or other online descriptive database. Existing descriptive lists of files and items do not have to be RAD compliant or converted to RAD.

Linking digital images of a select number of representative and/or valuable items (e.g. documents, photographs) in a fonds to the relevant descriptive record in MemoryNS or other online descriptive database could also be included in an Objective 1 project as could capturing/scanning these items to include their digitized representations in MemoryNS or other online descriptive database. Projects that create greater accessibility to archival records created by or about Mi'kmaq, Acadians, African Nova Scotians, Gaels and under-represented ethno-cultural groups in the holdings of institutional members, should be included under this Objective. It is also recommended that there be stakeholder consultation and possibly focus group discussions for project involving archival records of this type.

It is not mandatory that a descriptive inventory include a hard copy or electronic files and/or item level finding aid/list, nor is it mandatory that such file or item level finding aids/lists be fully RAD compliant.

Projects that will reduce the backlog of unprocessed records by producing a RAD compliant descriptive inventory of a fonds/collection, series and sub-series where applicable should also be included under this Objective. Preparing a file level finding aid/listing for textual records and an item level finding aid/listing for photographic images, sound recordings, moving images, cartographic records, plans and drawings would also qualify. Normally, for unprocessed archival records to be considered as an accumulated backlog in the holdings of an institutional member, the records should have been in the care, custody and control of the institutional member for at least 3 years and be at least 5 years old. However, it should be noted that exceptions can be made to the length of time unprocessed records need to have been in the holdings of a new or recently established archives.

2. Objective 2 project applications may be subject to review and comment by a designated conservator or the CNSA Preservation Committee before they are considered by the PADP Adjudication Committee.

Project applications to undertake global preservation assessments in those institutional members which lack one or which have an assessment dating from more than 6 years ago will be regarded as top priorities and scored accordingly.

Projects to address or implement one or more of the key recommendations in an institutional global preservation assessment will be treated as a top priority and scored accordingly.

Projects to develop and implement an institutional preservation policy and strategy or revise an outdated one as required will also be treated as priorities and scored accordingly provided a post 2017 global preservation assessment has been completed or has been applied for in 2024/25.

If a global preservation assessment and preservation policy and strategy are already in place, an institutional member may apply for project funding for developing and implementing other policies and procedures based on institutional priorities. These policies and procedures could encompass one or more of the following areas: care and handling, disaster prevention and planning, public access, security, pest control and integration of the preservation component into an existing acquisition policy.

Projects to undertake a detailed condition survey and assessment of holdings to assist in establishing institutional preservation priorities would qualify as an Objective 2 project provided a global preservation assessment and preservation policy and strategy are already in place.

Projects to monitor and improve the archival storage environment including temperature, RH, air quality, lighting and pest control are eligible under Objective 2. Preventive conservation or holdings maintenance projects such as removal of corrosive staples and paper clips from documents, refolding and reboxing in archival quality folders/boxes, humidification and flattening of rolled or folded records, provision of custom housing and purchase and installation of suitable steel shelving and oversize storage cabinets would also be considered under Objective 2.

Projects for deacidification of records and/or for mylar encapsulation of records would be considered under Objective 2 as would preservation reformatting projects, if these projects address or implement one or more of the key recommendations in an institutional global preservation assessment or implement a recommendation(s) from a professional conservator.

Preservation activities undertaken as part of a project under Objective 1, should reflect those activities in the project description. The noted preservation activities will be taken into consideration during adjudication.

3. Objective 3 projects could include: marketing and communications plans and initiatives, classroom visits, school tours, service club presentations, open houses, promotional launches of archival products/services, media advertising and radio spots, PSAs, newspaper articles, public lecture series, greater presence/participation in community/local events, posters, leaflets/brochures... The only limitations are your imagination and the requirement to have a project start and end date in 2024/25 with deliverables and outcomes that demonstrably advance Objective 3.

Some Objective 3 projects would lend themselves to an application from a single institutional member or a consortium of such members, while others would be better suited to the CNSA because of the project's scope and message.

Objective 3 could also include projects to produce virtual exhibits, online repository or thematic resource guides, or searchable data bases or indexes possibly linked to digitized representations of files or items which are included in the data base or index. If these projects feature the type of records referred to under Objective 1, as being created by or about underrepresented ethno-cultural groups, it would be advisable to have stakeholder consultations and possibly focus group discussions as part of the process.

4. Objective 4 is reserved for CNSA project applications that advance this objective; however, the CNSA may also apply under other Objectives if the project advances the needs of the overall membership.

Objective 4 could include projects to upgrade the technical capacity of MemoryNS, improve the CNSA Website, purchase equipment for use by most if not all institutional members, place bulk orders for archival supplies for resale to members, review and revise as appropriate the CNSA cooperative acquisition strategy. The foregoing is by no means a definitive listing of the type of CNSA projects that could be eligible under Objective 4.

VII. Ineligible Projects

- Capital Projects for a new building or facility or retrofitting an existing one as an archives are not eligible.
- Projects for conservation/restoration treatment of an individual item(s) for cosmetic or appearance purposes.

- Projects for archival records that will be closed for research use indefinitely or that are subject to unreasonable time based access restrictions.
- Acquisition projects, including the monetary fair market value appraisal or purchase of archival records.
- Projects limited to appraisal and selection of records.
- Projects to arrange and describe active or semi-active records.

- Projects to improve and/or enhance the level of description of records that are already arranged at a descriptive inventory level, with the exception of RAD redescription or conversion projects under Objective 1.
- Accessioning projects.

VIII. Eligible Contributions:

- The contribution of an applicant and its partner(s) may consist of cash/direct dollar financial assistance and/or in kind/equivalent indirect dollar support such as staff and/or volunteer time assigned to the relevant or applicable sources of income/investment and expense categories for the project.
- A part of the contribution of an applicant and its partner(s) can occur in the fiscal year prior to the fiscal year in which the PADP project will take place provided the contribution pertains to and supports successful completion of the project.
- Up to 15% of the contribution of an applicant and its partner(s) and up to 5% of the PADP funds requested may be used for project administration and management including project planning, consultation with partners, development of project application, accountable management of PADP funds and project expenses, recruitment and orientation of any project staff and fulfilling project reporting requirements.
- See also V. PADP Characteristics, Terms and Conditions for additional relevant information.

IX. Ineligible Contributions:

- Any contribution non project related.

X. Eligible Expenses:

- PADP project funding and the cash and/or equivalent in kind expenses of the applicant and its partner(s) must be for activities directly related to successful completion of the project to qualify as eligible expenses. Such expenses can not occur prior to 2023/24 or after project completion in 2024/25.
- Salaries and benefits of the applicant's and partner's existing paid staff for their time already spent on and/or to be spent on project activities. Such costs are both a contribution and an in kind expense based on the bi-weekly, weekly, or hourly pay rates of these staff involved in project activities.
- Wages and employment related costs (i.e. vacation pay, CPP and EI) for staff hired/engaged expressly to work on the project. Such costs are both a contribution and a direct cash expense to pay for project staff.
- Time already spent on or to be spent on project activities by volunteers is both a contribution and an in kind expense. As an indirect expense such costs should be based on what the applicant or partner(s) would pay volunteers for their time on project activities if they were able to do so. Such a contribution and expense should be based on a realistic hourly wage rate and employment related costs.
- Fees charged and/or to be charged for professional, technical, consultative, and other services directly related to successful completion of the project. Examples of fees could be what a conservator charges to undertake a global preservation assessment for a CNSA institutional member; what a private sector service provider charges to digitize a particular number and type of records; what an individual or firm charges for promotion, marketing and communications associated with an Objective 3 project; or what the registration fee is for a professional development and training event.

If goods and services worth more than $1,000 are only available from a sole source, 3 quotes are not required.
- Cost of transportation of archival records that have to be relocated for justifiable project reasons.

- Travel costs directly related to the project. Such expenses could include return economy airfare, ground transportation, mileage at the provincial government rate, reasonably priced accommodation, meals with receipts or at the provincial government per diem amounts, incidental expenses at the provincial government rate. In most instances such expenses would be related to increasing professionalism, or the travel costs associated with meetings of stakeholders or focus groups expertise and skills.
- Project Administration and Management costs to a maximum of 15% of the contribution of the applicant and its partner(s) and up to 5% of the PADP funds requested are eligible expenses. In most instances eligible expenses are for the time spent by paid staff on project administration and management activities such as those referred to under VIII Eligible Contributions. In some cases expenses could be for service fee charged for project financial management.
- Any other costs that cannot be accommodated under one of the specified expense categories on the project application form should be entered under Other Costs on the application form, but before doing so it would be advisable for the applicant to contact the CNSA Archives Advisor to determine if such costs are eligible expenses.

XI. Ineligible Expenses:

- Rental or lease of archival storage space or office space.
- Recurring or ongoing operational costs of an institutional member, including its facility/building.
- Costs to an institutional member associated with the ongoing operation, maintenance and service of any equipment or system used to capture, store, manipulate, retrieve or access information. However, the CNSA is exempt from this restriction with respect to MemoryNS.

Costs/Expenses are recorded in or assigned to predetermined expense categories such as: salaries & benefits of existing staff; wages and employment related costs of project staff; volunteers, fees and services, travel, purchase of supplies, purchase/rental of equipment, building repair/upgrade, marketing, and communication costs; project administration/management and other to be specified.
- The total of the Income/Contributions part of the budget including cash and inkind contributions must balance with the Costs/Expenses part of the budget including both cash and inkind expenses.
- Any substantive changes or revisions to the budget of an approved PADP project amounting to 10% or more of the PADP project funds provided must be requested in writing by the successful applicant and approved in writing by the NS Archives.
- Management and expenditure of PADP project funds by a successful applicant may be subject to audit by the NS Archives or the provincial Auditor General for up to 5 fiscal years after project completion.
- Templates for both parts of the project budget and more detailed worksheets for each expense category are included on the project application form which will be available online at <https://archives.novascotia.ca/padp/>

- All applications will be reviewed and assessed/scored by an appropriately constituted independent Adjudication Committee in accordance with established PADP Adjudication Criteria.
- The PADP Scoring Guide for Adjudication including criteria is available online at <https://archives.novascotia.ca/padp/>
- Unless the high and low scores for applications are given by consistently high and low markers they will be discarded if they are 15 or more points above/below the next highest/lowest score.
- The overall mark assigned to each eligible project application will be the Committee aggregate average score.
- Priority order for PADP project funding recommendations will be determined by the application adjudication scores.

- Composition of the PADP Adjudication Committee appointed by the Provincial Archivist is as follows:

- The following individual will serve as an information resource for the PADP Adjudication Committee and may attend Committee meetings in a non-scoring capacity:
 - Sharon Murray (CNSA Archives Advisor)

- The NS Archives is entitled to be an observer at Adjudication Committee meetings.

- In any public announcements or promotional activities concerning the project or on any products resulting from the project, the financial assistance provided by CCTH through the PADP should be acknowledged.

- It would be advisable if the successful applicant wrote to the Minister of CCTH once the project was completed to thank the Department of CCTH and the NS Archives in particular for its financial support under the PADP. A copy of this letter should be sent to the Provincial Archivist/Director, NS Archives and to the MLA for the provincial riding in which the institutional member whose project was funded is located.
