Report of the Public Archives of Nova Scotia

FOR THE YEAR 1938

To The Board of Trustees of the Public Archives of Nova Scotia:

Gentlemen:

I have the honour to present my eighth annual report of the Public Archives of Nova Scotia.

Throughout the year the perennial task of sorting, filing, cataloguing, binding and repairing of books and manuscripts has continued without interruption, and definite progress has been made. The cross-reference card catalogue of the land papers of Nova Scotia has been completed, and a calendar of land papers dealing with Cape Breton, chiefly between 1784 and 1820, has been prepared for reference or for publication if so desired. As an illustration of the work involved, it may be noted that the former contains 35,000 cards and the index of the latter over 3000 names.

The librarian reports that 1235 students or casual inquirers have used our library and manuscript room and have consulted 1819 manuscripts, 3446 books or pamphlets, and that the newspapers have been in constant demand.

The educational extension work of the Archives fostered by the Canadian Museum Committee of the Carnegie Corporation has been continued by Dr. J. S. Martell on slightly different lines from other years. Since October he has given weekly radio lectures on Canadian History, Grade IX, for the Department of Education and will continue the series until the end of May; but he is not visiting the schools to lecture as hitherto. However, as he had visited all the high schools of the province, except those of Halifax, in the past two years and as his radio lectures are heard all over the province, we decided to give special attention to Halifax this year. Accordingly, an arrangement was made with Dr. F. G. Morehouse, Supervisor of Schools for the city of Halifax, whereby the pupils of all the schools were invited to visit the Archives by appointment. All who have accepted the invitation have been conducted in groups through the building for periods of an hour each, during which the various exhibits and the resources of the institution have been described and explained fully in relation to Nova Scotian history. Thus, in the three years during which the grants from the Carnegie Corporation have been available, the Archives has been in a sense carried to every high school of the province and, although these grants will not be continued, the work which they inspired will be carried on in future as far as our resources will permit.

Throughout the past year, also, the usual number of enquiries has been given careful attention and special exhibits of appropriate books, documents and muniments have been made for those historical celebrations which took place during the year. In response to a request that the Archives be opened on Saturday afternoons during July and August, arrangements were made to that effect but as very few people availed themselves of the opportunity to visit the building compared with the numbers who came on other days of the week, the experiment can hardly be regarded as a success.

Bulletin number 3, A Catalogue of Maps, Plans and Charts in the Public Archives of Nova Scotia, was compiled during the year by Miss Marion Gilroy, and published in October. This bulletin is valuable not only as a scientific classification of our collection but as a revelation of the number of valuable maps and plans that have been preserved from the ravages of time. Other bulletins and calendars are in preparation and will be published as time and funds permit.

In addition to Bulletin number 3, the following historical articles have been published during the year by members of the Archives staff:

Marion Gilroy: The Imperial Customs Establishment in Nova Scotia, 1825-1855, The Canadian Historical Review, September, 1938.

The County Histories of Nova Scotia, Public Affairs, August, 1938.

D. C. Harvey: From College to University, Dalhousie Review, January, 1938.

Dalhousie University Established, Dalhousie Review, April, 1938.

The Halifax-Castine Expedition, Dalhousie Review, July, 1938.

History and Its Uses in Pre-Confederation Nova Scotia, Report of the Canadian Historical Association, 1938.

New England Influence on Nova Scotian Education, Proceedings of Conference on Canadian American Affairs, 1938.

J. S. Martell: The Press of the Maritime Provinces in the 1830's. The Canadian Historical Review, March, 1938.

A Sidelight on Federalist Strategy, American Historical Review, April, 1938.

Inter-Colonial Communications, 1840-1867, Report of the Canadian Historical Association, 1938.

Military Settlements in Nova Scotia after the War of 1812, Collections of the Nova Scotia Historical Society, volume 24.

The Melting Pot in Nova Scotia, Canadian Medical Association Journal, November, 1938.

The Archives staff, besides lecturing to various clubs in the city of Halifax, has contributed also to the series of Canadian Broadcasting Corporation broadcasts on "Canadian Portraits" which ran throughout the winter months. On February 4th I lectured in this series on Thomas McCulloch and on March 25th Dr. Martell lectured on Richard John Uniacke.

As your representative on the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada, I have carried on the usual correspondence in regard to the marking of historic sites and the unveiling of memorials. This year four memorials were erected by the Board in Nova Scotia: a cut stone monument and standard tablet, commemorating the first Pictou Academy, unveiled in Pictou on August 15th; a cut stone monument and standard tablet, in honour of the Halifax-Castine Expedition of 1814-15, unveiled in Halifax on August 16th; a secondary tablet on an iron standard, marking the site of the Mohawk fort built at Annapolis Royal in 1712, unveiled August 31st; and a cut stone monument with standard tablet, marking the site of the Battle of Grand Pre in 1747, unveiled September 5th. I have also spent considerable time in preparation for next year's work which promises to be as fruitful as the last.

The list of donations in Appendix A indicates that the Archives has maintained the confidence of the people of Nova Scotia as a safe depository of their public and private records, and that former donors, such as Dr. William Inglis Morse of Cambridge, Mass., Miss Isabella McCulloch of Truro, Mrs. William MacNab and Mr. B. E. Paterson of Halifax, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Vickery of Halifax and Yarmouth North have added materially to their collections during the past year, while a number of new friends have manifested their interest by gifts or loans. But special mention must be made of T. Howland White, Esq., of Shelburne, who has generously placed in our custody the most varied and valuable collection of private papers that the Archives has yet received. This comprises 1580 letters from a wide circle of correspondents including various members of Gideon White's original family and family connections, and their descendants from the 1760's to the 1890's, and throws much light on the social conditions and political ideas of the Loyalists in particular, as well as the vicissitudes of this distinguished Loyalist family and others in the years subsequent to the hey-day of Shelburne. The same is true of the twenty-eight diaries and letter-books, forty odd books or manuscripts of business records, and the fifty odd miscellaneous books of documents, public and private, which raise the list to a total of 1700 items. The whole collection is being calendared so that matters of historical as distinct from private interest may be available to the student in the near future.

Special mention should be made also of St. Matthew's Church, Halifax, which has placed twelve volumes of its pastoral and congregational records in our custody, and in addition filled an entire show-case with pewter or silver plate, cups and flagons. Of this collection, one communion set had a unique history. Lent for communion at Aldershot Camp during the Great War, it was lost on return, but found many years afterward, safely packed in its sturdy chest, amid a pile of scrap metal at an iron foundry in Dartmouth.

Appendix B is a complete section of the original census of 1827, and deals with the Upper District of the County of Sydney (now Antigonish county.) As it was badly damaged by mould, it has been transcribed while still legible and should be printed so that the interesting information it contains about these early settlers will be preserved and made accessible to the public.

A statement of receipts and expenditures for the financial year ending November 30th, 1938, will be found below.

Respectfully submitted,

D. C. HARVEY,
Archivist.
