PREFACE

THE year 1918 will stand out in Halifax history as the year of Reconstruction; and also of the homecoming of our brave soldier lads from overseas. Great activity has characterized our business enterprises, and a forward step has been taken in giving our city a front rank position among the cities of the Dominion. The Shipyards in the north end and the Ocean Terminals in the South have been great factors in metamorphosising the city, so that the sobriquet "Sleepy old Halifax," has been eliminated.

The reawakening process has naturally attracted population, five thousand having been added to Halifax and two thousand to Dartmouth.

The number of names in this Directory for Halifax is 26,023—an advance from last year of 1,819 names; for Dartmouth, 3,497—an increase of 492. This shows our city's population to be 65,000, and that of Dartmouth 9,000. If we include Northwest Arm (700), Bedford (700), Fairview and Rockingham (each 300), the present population of "Greater Halifax" is 76,000. Who dare predict our population at the close of another half-century, as it will be contained in Volume C!

The advantage of the City Directory as an advertising agency has been more liberally used than ever, and the present issue is larger than any previously published. Its contents have been made as nearly perfect as a half-century's experience permits. Our greatest reward will be the satisfaction of our patrons.

McAlpine's
Halifax Street Directory
For 1919

The Street Directory is presented in condensed form. In the north section—the area devastated by the Great Explosion of December 6th, 1917, the directory is necessarily incomplete. Full information will be found in the Alphabetical section.

The streets of Halifax are numbered from the East, or Harbor side, running West towards Northwest Arm and from the South or Point Pleasant Park, running North to Bedford Basin.

The odd numbers are on the East and North sides of the streets.

The even numbers on the West and South sides of streets.

All tram cars stop for passengers after passing intersecting streets.

The word "street" is always implied.

The figures 1-2-3-4-5-6 after the street headings indicate the Ward in which the street is located.
